Come on over in Summer

Lord Howe Island holidays are delightfully different. Separated from the Australian mainland by 425 nautical miles of deep blue sea, the island is only 11 km long and 2.5 km wide; it's fringed by soft coral, sand beaches and overlooked by towering, cloud-topped mountains; and its scenic beauty is unforgettable.

Lord Howe Island offers peace and tranquillity. You can perch on a rocky headland and lazily soak up the sun while watching the surf . . . listen to the cries of the seabirds as they wheel overhead . . . dream the hours away in quiet solitude.

Or you can fill your days with action and excitement . . . windsurfing, exploring the silent, colour-filled world beneath the surface of the lagoon; with deep-sea fishing, cycling, tennis, bowls, golf, beachcombing, mountain-climbing, fun-filled beach barbecues or parties.

Whatever your holiday mood, Lord Howe Island can match it. At this moment — now, as you read this — the palms are sighing by the shore, the lagoon is sparkling blue in the sunshine (or turning silver in the moonlight), and time is drifting slowly by . . .

Life on the island is relaxed and informal. The islanders dress casually, visitors follow their lead and are advised, in addition to sports gear, to bring tennis and walking shoes, (and an old pair of shoes for reef excursions).

Come on over in Winter

Lord Howe Island enjoys a very mild winter — the temperature is hardly ever cooler than 16°C, and frosts are unknown. Activities that can be enjoyed are hiking and bushwalking, bike riding, bowls, golf, tennis, photography, and for an experience that's really different — something few people have ever done before — you can take a stroll to Ned's Beach where you can stand knee-deep and crumble bread in the crystal clear water and watch the fish swim in for their share. They're free sea creatures, but they've become so tame they'll eat out of your hand.

We on Lord Howe believe we have the southernmost coral reef in the world, our water is CLEAR, our beaches are clean, the air is CRISP and pollution free. We have many indigenous plants and trees, and of course we have our woodhen. Lord Howe Island is UNIQUE, and because of these things and many more, Lord Howe Island has recently been included in the 'World Heritage Organisation'.

Fishing? You've never really been fishing until you've dropped a line into the deep waters off Lord Howe Island, where kingfish, tuna, mackerel and marlin abound. These are fighting fish, lean and hungry, and when they snap at the bait you know you're on to something big! Good fishing is to be had from the rocks and beach.

Travel & Accommodation: There are regular flights to the Island from Sydney, Port Macquarie, Newcastle, Coolangatta, Brisbane and Norfolk Island. Your travel agent has full particulars. Accommodation on the island is in lodges of motel-style units, or self-contained flats. All are clean, comfortable and reasonably priced.
